Parenting for Resilience

- Parenting focused on the goal of raising engaged, resilient kids who face life’s ups and downs with resolve and grow into adults with meaningful lives
- Parenting focused on the growth mindset (genuine mastery motivation, intellectual fearlessness) versus the static mindset (grades, awards)
- Parenting focused on nurturing innovative thinking versus perfectionism
- Parenting focused on modeling healthy life balance versus anxiety habits

Wednesday, December 18, 2013
7:00 to 9:00 PM
Iron Horse Middle School MPR
12601 Alcosta Blvd., San Ramon, CA 94583

Dr. Dan Peters of the Summit Center in Walnut Creek has presented many times in the San Ramon Valley School District. His presentations at Parent Education Evening Speaker Series and the Annual Parenting Conference on topics such as Taming the Worry Monster in GATE, High Achieving, and Highly Sensitive Students and Characteristics for the Gifted Learner make him a perennial favorite. His knowledge, insight, and sense of humor make him a well-respected and popular speaker among parents. His message is appropriate for all parents and applicable to all students, regardless of GATE identification.

The evening’s schedule will include Dr. Peters’ presentation from 7:00-8:15pm and a question and answer section with Dr. Peters, Lisa Ward, SRVUSD Director of Student Services, Jason Reimann, SRVUSD Director of Instructional Services, and Lisa Olson, former school district guidance counselor and proprietor of a college counseling service, for the remainder of the evening.

This event is free with registration. Register to attend http://www.eventbrite.com/e/parenting-for-resilience-tickets-9536773747
This event is open to all and endorsed by both the San Ramon Valley Council of PTAs’ Special Needs and Parent & Community Concerns Committees.
If you have any questions, please contact srvspecialneeds@gmail.com
To learn more about the Special Needs Committee and the Parent and Community Concerns Committee, visit www.srvptca-ca.schoolloop.com